

fish

cat

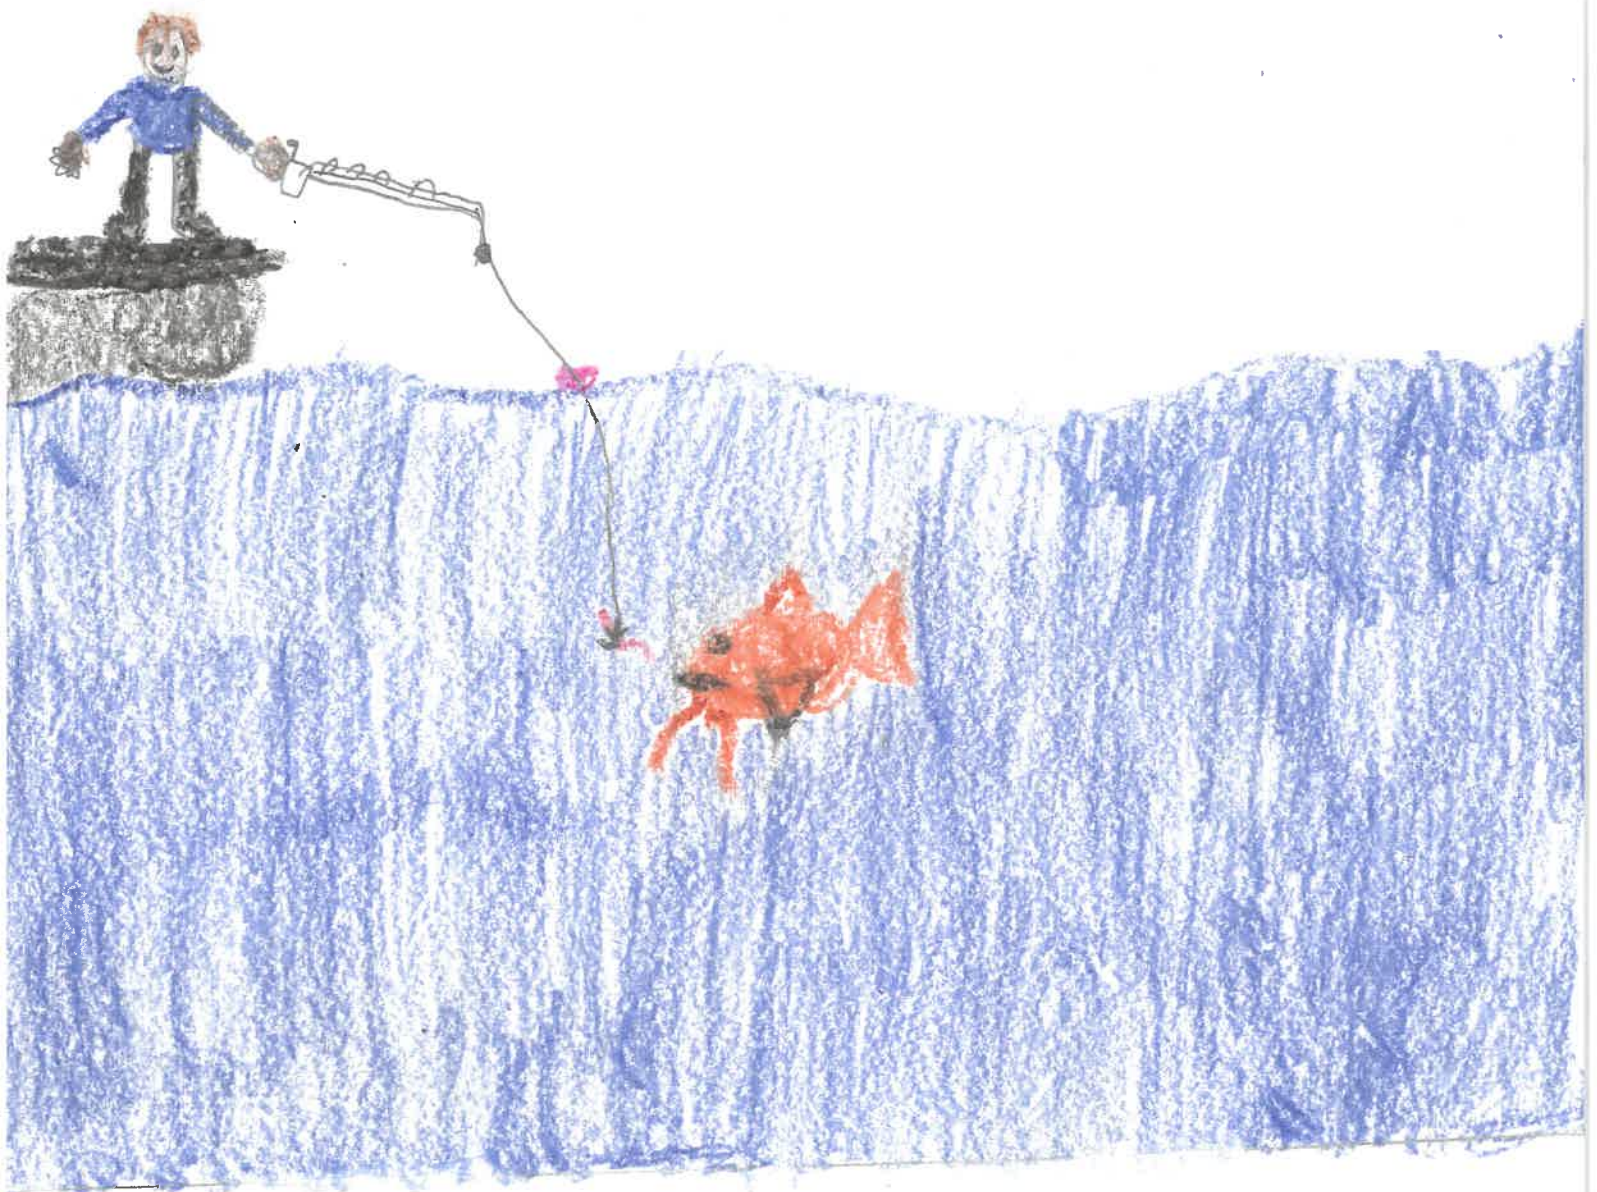

fish

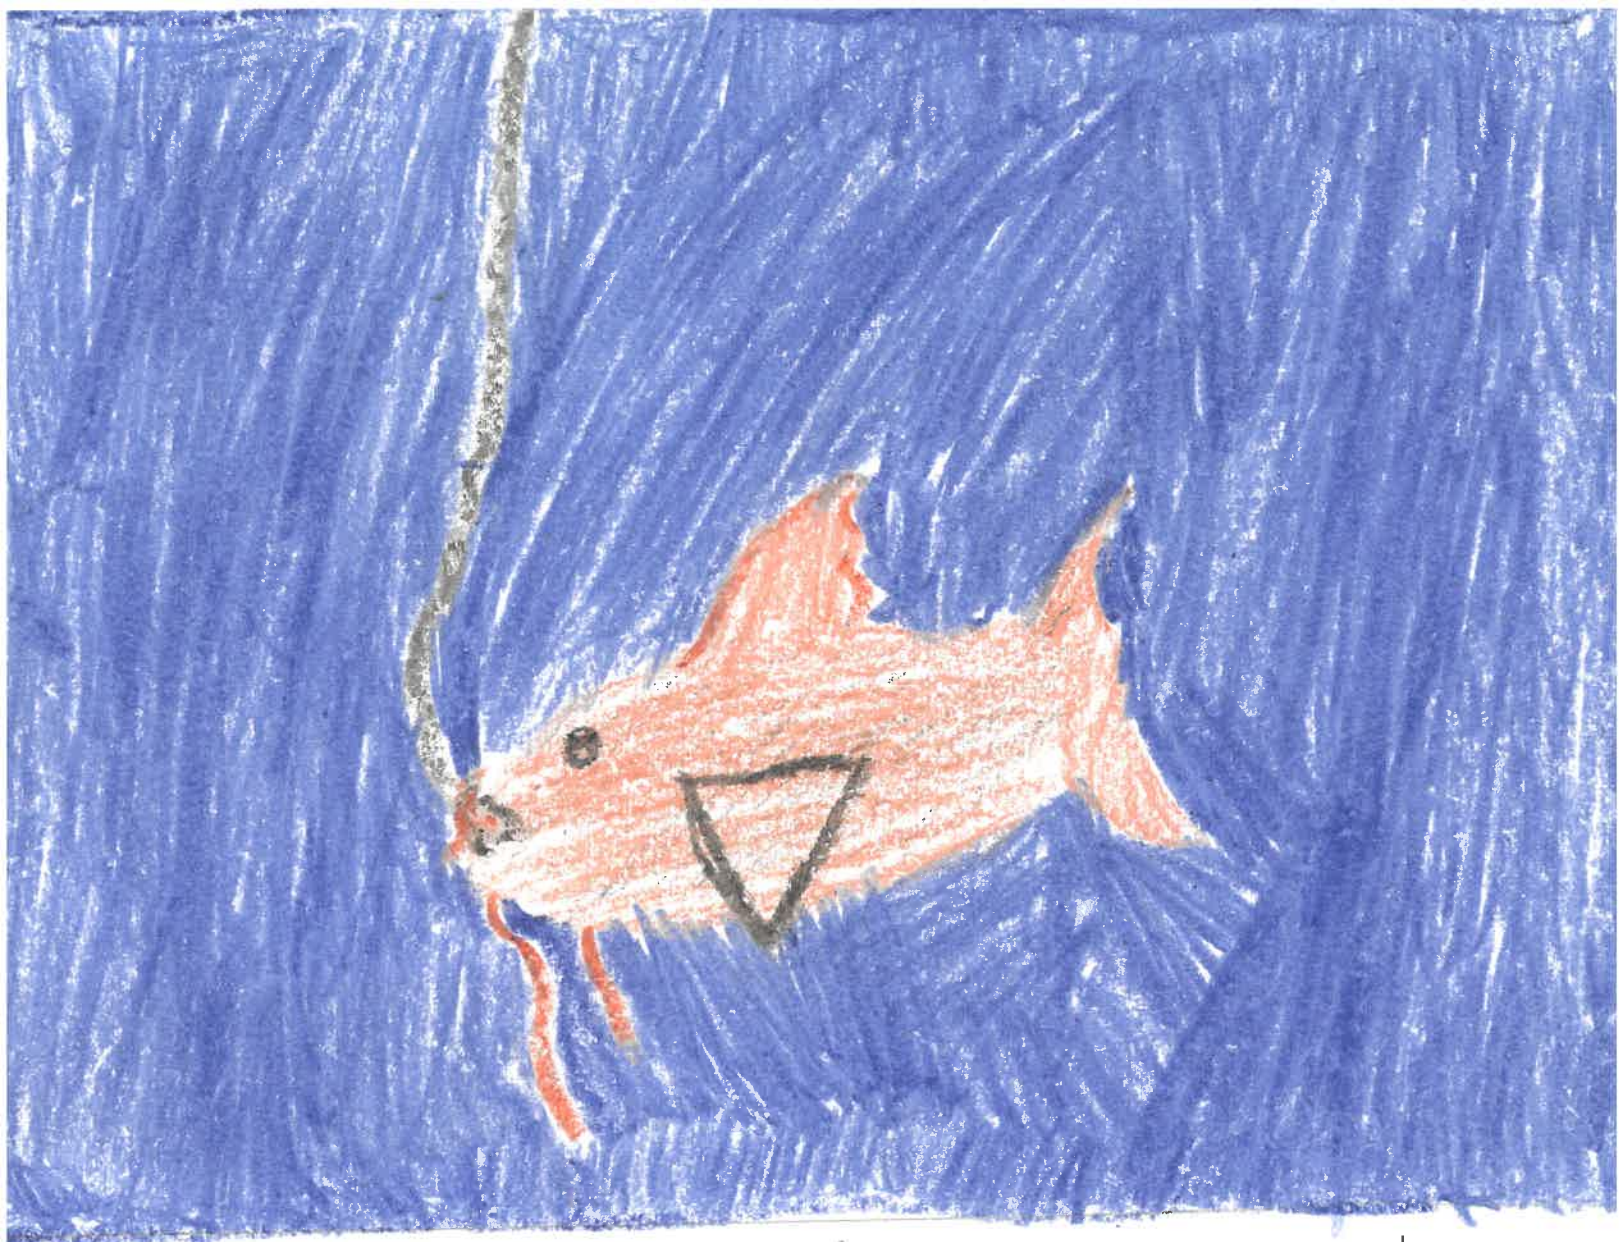

by Eddie Thompson

The sun was shining on the water, shimmering around the flowing, green plants.

Splash! A delicious meal drops down from above. I swim to it like a shark hungry for lunch.

I take a nibble and it is so good that I eat
the whole thing.

Ouch! Something is stuck in my mouth. I am being pulled around a boat. "I got one," says a voice from above water. A boy pulls me up from the water. "It's one foot long!"

The boy takes the sharp thing out of my mouth. He drops me into the water and I swim away, looking for food. The boy smiles like it is the best day ever.